

PUMP SPEED COMPENSATION FOR TRANSMISSION LINE PRESSURE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A transmission line pressure controller compensates for pump speed effect on transmission line pressure. A sensor determines a pressure of a pressure control actuator. The controller determines a selected transmission range, including drive or reverse. The controller determines an effective engine speed. The controller adjusts the pressure control actuator according to the selected transmission range and the effective engine speed.

5